The Baby's Boozie.

(In Newport) they are discussing the regulation of the drinking habit among children—News Item.
T is never a hygienic plan to let the baby rush the can. Lest by and by with gin or rye He grows unduly chummy; Before he gratifies his thirst his gentle governess should first Take care to choose a brand of booze That won't affect his tummy.

A HIGHBALL every day at ten, a brace of cocktails now and then. And at his lunch a mellow punch of sugar, milk and whiskey. May not impair his childish charm or do his morals any harm But abstinence sprints are dreadful things And very, very risky.

If baby finds he cannot dine without a glass or two of wine, Some good champagne might clear his brain. But heed this timely warning: If ever he's allowed to drink the fifteen-cent-a-quart red ink Before he goes to his repose, He'll have a head next morning.

If you should find that he prefers the yellow, green and brown liquors, Correct his taste with eager haste; For these are dissipations Which those most trusted in stimulants unanimously view askance; They are not fit a little bit For infantile potations.

If this baby's appetite for spirits is directed right, And if his rum does not succumb To crumpling cramps and colic, He'll learn to drink the proper way, and if he's lucky, some fine day Perhaps he'll win a nice place in A home for alcoholics!

JOY RETURNS FROM RUN TO GRAND CANYON

President of Lincoln National Highway Association Enthusiastic Over Proposed Scenic Highway Through New Mexico

WILL MAKE JOURNEY FROM SANTA FE TO TAOS

H. B. Joy, president of the Lincoln National Highway and of the Packard Automobile company, of Detroit, is back in town after a trip to the Grand Canyon over the New Mexico and Arizona state highways. He made the trip in a new model Packard, which he is trying out. Mr. Joy came here two weeks ago by train with the car, and left on the scenic run as soon as the car was unloaded and tuned up.

Mr. Joy is full of enthusiasm over the Omaha-Cheyenne-Denver-Albuquerque route, which includes stretches of the Lincoln highway, Colorado highway and the Ocean-to-Ocean highway.

"It is absolutely the finest drive in the world," said Mr. Joy yesterday, when he returned from the trip. He expressed approval of the movement by the New Mexico, Colorado and Arizona road associations and the Ocean-to-Ocean association to divert automobile tourists south from the Lincoln highway at Cheyenne, but suggested that tourists should go north through California and return eastward over the western end of the Lincoln highway.

"With the exception of a five-mile stretch between Datil and Quemado the road from here to the Grand Canyon by way of Springerville is in good shape," said Mr. Joy. "That had stretch is about twenty-five miles west of Datil on the north side of the mountain. Shows and freight outfits have made it almost impassable to automobiles." Mr. Joy suggests that the route be changed to the south side of the mountain, to insure an open road all the way from here to the canyon at this time of year.

Mr. Joy left for Santa Fe today, and from the capital will go to Taos. If he finds the road open. Before leaving he called on Mayor Sellers, president of the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway association.

WOMAN WATCHES THIEF PILLAGE RESIDENCE

Fears to Make Outcry Lest Burglar Attack Her, She Waits Until Job Is Done.

Afraid to make outcry for fear of attack, a woman watched a thief at work in the residence of Mathias Cueters, 502 West Silver avenue, last night. The thief, unaware of the on-looker, calmly piled his trade and went on his way untroubled. He took with him a purse containing $2.

The woman, a member of the family, saw the thief, whom she describes as a tramp, enter the house. She was alone, and not daring to risk calling attention to her presence, she remained in terrified silence while the man rummaged a loot. When he left she notified the police. The thief left no clue.

Police Court Case.
Harry Redman, whom the police blotter truthfully describes as colored, was one of the four defendants arraigned in the city court today. He was charged with vagrancy and received a ten-days' sentence.

Judge Craig sentenced A. R. Williams and William Smith, also accused of vagrancy, to fifteen days in jail. Juan Dabala, drunk and disorderly, drew the same sentence.

Bound.
G. F. Valliant, one of the owners of The Evening Herald, and his daughter, Miss Martha Valliant, arrived last night from their former home in Texarkana, Ark., to make their home in Albuquerque.

On a recent trip to the reservation, John Lee Clarke snapped up several hundred fine Navajo blankets at a ridiculously low price. That is the reason for the great Navajo rug sale that starts tomorrow.

John Lee Clarke says: "Bring some one who knows." Mr. Clarke knows that, beginning tomorrow, he's going to sell Navajo blankets cheaper than they were ever sold before, and he wants you to know.

Eugene Kempenich, chairman of the board of Valencia county commissioners arrived last night from Portland to meet State Engineer James A. French. He will accompany Mr. French south over the road to Belen this afternoon.

A church recital under the direction of Charles H. Andrews, choir director, will be given at the Presbyterian church Monday evening. An admission of fifty cents will be charged, the funds derived to be used in work on the organ.

There will be a meeting of G. K. Warren Post, G. A. R., tomorrow, Saturday, night, at 7:30, at 121 South Third street. All members are urged to be present as business of importance is to be transacted. Z. H. Ellis, post commander. J. G. Caldwell, adjutant.

R. W. Bell, stenographer to General Superintendent Bristol of the Santa Fe, who is in the city with his chief today, expects to leave within about two weeks for Detroit, where he will join J. M. Kurn, now president and general manager of the Detroit, Cleveland and Ironton railroad. Mr. Bell served with Mr. Kurn during the latter's term as general superintendent of the Santa Fe.

NOTHING THE MATTER WITH THE BANK OF SAN MARCIAL

Bank Will Be Opened Monday for Business as Usual; Plenty of Funds in Hand.

State Traveling Auditor and Bank Examiner Howell Barnes returned to Albuquerque this morning from San Marcial where he has been in connection with the re-opening of the Bank of San Marcial, closed a few weeks ago by the banking department at the request of officers of the bank. "The bank will re-open Monday morning for business as usual and no one will be hurt at all," said Mr. Barnes this morning. "There was nothing seriously the matter with the institution. It had extended a little too much credit and was a trifle short of cash. The president of the bank was out of the state and could not be reached, and the local officers became a little panicky. The institution is perfectly solvent and always has been and no one will suffer at all from the incident."
